

Cotton Crop Estimate 14.5 Million Bales

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department today estimated this year's cotton crop at 14,550,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight.

This estimate is 28,000 bales less than last month's official forecast of 14,581,000 bales. It compared with 14,550,000 produced last year and 13,710,000 for the ten-year (1949-58) average.

The crop will be supplemented by a reserve and surplus of 7,500,000 bales accumulated from past crops. Much of this is held by the government under farm price support programs.

The department estimated that yield per harvested acre will be 46 pounds compared with 46.2 last year and 34.5 for the ten-year average.

Employment Dips, So Does Unemployment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both employment and unemployment declined in September in an improving national job situation attributed mainly to seasonal factors.

Both employment and unemployment were affected by the return of young workers to their classrooms from temporary summer jobs.

Seymour Wolfson, deputy assistant secretary of labor for manpower problems, said the latest job figures show employment is continuing at a relatively high level.

But he said unemployment also is remaining at a high point "that is far from satisfactory by any standard."

The Labor Department reported that employment dropped from 68,282,000 in August to 67,707,000 in September. The 515,000 reduction still left the September job total at a record for the month.

Normally a post summer drop of about 750,000 is expected in the employment count.

The department said unemployment dropped from 3,788,000 in August to 3,366,000 in September, a reduction of 400,000. Normally unemployment is expected to decline by 500,000 in September.

The seasonally adjusted rate of unemployment to the total work force declined from 5.9 per cent to 5.7 per cent. The department said an earlier-than-usual model changeover in the auto industry exaggerated the August rise in this rate as well as the September decline.

The idle rate of 5.7 per cent is about the same as a year ago during the steel strike, and higher than any month this year except August.

Washburn to Washington Group Meet

Alex. H. Washburn, Star publisher, flew from Shreveport to Washington, D. C. Sunday night to attend an executive meeting Monday for the promotion of the Buggs bill called by the national Committee Opposed to Censorship by Taxation.

Because of his long court fight with the Internal Revenue Service to preserve the right of individual citizens to fight for or against legislation affecting their business interests, the national committee invited the Arkansas editor to address its organization meeting at the Metropolitan Club in Washington last April 13, and he joined the group.

The national committee was formed to spearhead a legislative drive by a score of small business and publishing organizations to put through Congress the Buggs bill, which would prohibit the Internal Revenue Service from penalizing citizens appearing for or against pending legislation affecting their business interests. Currently the Internal Revenue Service claims the right to disallow expenses incurred in legislative and referendum fights as an income-tax deduction.

Washburn, claiming that income tax was paid by those who received the $6,024.96 he spent personally in a petition attempt to obtain a popular vote in Arkansas on the 1955 legislative act exempting poultry and livestock feed from sales tax, took the position that the Internal Revenue Service's disallowances of this item and its claim for $2,015 additional tax on his 1955 return amounted to double-taxation and a fine on him as a newspaper editor.

The editor lost on his appeal to the Tax Court, a review division of the Internal Revenue Service. He paid the $2,015 fine, which with interest totaled $2,499.43, and then appeared to the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals, St. Louis, where the court case now is.

The remedial legislation, called the Buggs bill, was reported favorably by the Ways & Means Committee this summer with the Treasury's approval, but too late to obtain action in the last days of the Congress.

Plans for Buggs bill passage in the new Congress are handicapped, Washburn said, because of the unexpected reversal of the position taken by organized labor. At first labor declared itself for the bill, but later opposed the measure "because there's nothing in it for labor."

Washburn pointed out that although his long fight to keep the Arkansas sales tax from rising from 2 to 3 per cent failed—the warning of it in the 1955 referendum petition campaign, and the 3 per cent tax was enacted in 1957—labor would have been a primary beneficiary had he succeeded. Washburn had charged both in 1955 and 1957 that with the advent of sales tax revenue in 1955 property assessments had declined in Arkansas, throwing the major burden of government on those who work for wages.

And because his town of Hope was only 33 miles from Texarkana, which has no sales tax, he felt justified in financing referendum petitions both from the positions of self interest and public interest.

This Is Fire Prevention Week in U. S.

Fire Prevention Week begins today, as proclaimed by President Eisenhower.

Since the Chicago fire of October 9 and 10, 1871, which wiped out the entire business section and a large part of the residential properties of that city, fire prevention and protection have progressed from a rule-of-thumb method, and occasional practice, to the status of a science. Sound rules of fire safety are now well established and are available to all.

Fire prevention was emphasized annually as "Fire Prevention Day" for some thirty years before 1920. In the year, the President of the United States proclaimed "Fire Prevention Week," to include the date of October 9, the anniversary of the Chicago fire.

In observing Fire Prevention Week Hope takes its place with other cities throughout the United States in carrying on a program which will result in a safer city in which to live.

Johnson to South With Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Democratic vice-presidential nominee, Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson, headed into the South today aboard a special campaign train that will cover some 60 towns in eight states.

About 100 Texans who reside in the nation's capital were at Union Station with an eight-piece band to cheer the Texas senator on as the 13-car special pulled away at 8 a. m. The train, due to spend the night in Charlotte, N. C., ends its run in New Orleans, La., Friday night.

In a rear platform response just before departure, Johnson told the crowd he was setting out on a unity tour.

"There are forces at work which would divide us," he said. "There can be no North, no South, East or West. We are all Americans."

Lady Bird Johnson, the senator's wife, appeared on the platform with the vice-presidential candidate. She thanked everyone for being on hand to see them off.

Most of those in the crowd were leaders of the Texas State Society either Capitol Hill employees or of Washington.

Lumumba's Bid for Power Has Been Stopped

By DAVID MASON

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Col. Joseph Mobutu, the Congo's strong man, appeared today to have tipped the bid for the latest move by Lumumba to rally public support.

After the deposed premier's trip through Leopoldville's native quarter Sunday night, Mobutu today ordered Lumumba's residence ringed with 200 Congolese soldiers.

There was a brief scuffle as soldiers drove back several dozen Lumumba supporters with rifle butts. One shot was fired into the air. Ten of the pro-Lumumba crowd were taken into custody. One or two were reported slightly injured by the rough and determined action of the soldiers.

Mobutu told one of his officers: "Nobody must go in or go out." As soon as Mobutu left, Lumumba walked out on his balcony and shouted: "I am not a prisoner. I am still master. The people are still with me."

There were no further incidents. A little later Mobutu ordered the troop strength around Lumumba's home cut to 50 men.

Soldiers told reporters that they had been ordered to the residence to "prevent Lumumba from making politics."

They said they had no orders to arrest Lumumba but that they were there to prevent his political friends and Parliament members from getting into the house.

Lumumba, who was fired as government head early last month, made an unannounced sortie through the bars of Leopoldville's sprawling native quarter Sunday night. He confidently told cheering groups of Africans, "Lumumba has come back to power."

Tension mounted in the city today, and most observers believed Lumumba would try to get a new hold on the government reins.

After Lumumba's pub crawl, the Congo army chief of staff, Col. Joseph Mobutu, who has tried to neutralize Lumumba and other politicians, deployed strong troop detachments in key parts of the city. Groups of 20 to 30 soldiers stood guard in parts of the European and African quarters.

Most of the troops had been withdrawn by daybreak, but there were still about 25 around Lumumba's residence.

Two armored cars were parked in front of the sprawling modernistic parliament building and score of more troops were posted there. There have been reports that members of Parliament would attempt to convene a session despite Mobutu's orders pulling the lawmakers on vacation.

Castro Due to Blast the U. S. Again

By RICHARD VALERIANI

HAVANA (AP) — Fidel Castro was expected to deliver a new blast at the United States today with charges that Washington had armed counter-revolutionary guerrillas. The Cuban regime claimed it smashed over the weekend.

The prime minister was scheduled to address the closing session of a congress of municipal education boards.

Castro was certain to take his text from an announcement by the Armed Forces Ministry Sunday that volunteer militiamen led by army regulars had liquidated an anti-Castro force operating in the strategic Escambray Mountains of south-central Cuba, scene of Castro's second front during his successful revolt against dictator Fulgencio Batista.

A communique said 127 persons captured during the operations would be tried by a military tribunal beginning Tuesday.

The communique said three insurgents were killed and four wounded. Government casualties were listed as one regular army officer and two militiamen dead and two others wounded.

The government announcements played up the operation as a crushing blow to anti-Castro elements. The insurgents in the Escambray Mountains reportedly were the largest group to take up arms against Castro since he came to power 21 months ago.

A huge supply of arms was reportedly captured. The communique said it included "warlike equipment so complete and detailed it never could have been acquired clandestinely by arms smugglers and only could have been obtained by direct delivery by Northern American (U.S.) authorities from stocks of their arms arsenals. All the arms are of North American make."

The government claimed the weapons were parachuted into the mountains from a U.S. four-engine plane on Sept. 29.

The government also promised a report on its pursuit of the small band of invaders it claimed landed on the northeastern coast of Cuba last week. Three Americans were reported among the invaders at the time.

Russia Gains Support for UN Revision

By RELMAN MORIN

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — President Sekou Toure of Guinea today supported Soviet demands on the U.N. peace-making machinery and demanded revision of the world organization's charter to permit equitable representation for Asia and Africa.

Premier Khrushchev and a full-strength Soviet delegation was on hand and enthusiastically applauded the appearance of the white-robed African leader on the U.N. General Assembly rostrum.

Khrushchev has just reminded the world of his view that the United Nations "will die" unless it agrees to his demands for reorganizing the secretariat. He wants a presidium of three members — Communist, Western and neutral — each with veto powers over U.N. peace-making decisions.

Toure went down the aisle in support of most of the Soviet projects outlined during this 15th session of the Soviet premier.

On the matter of the secretariat revision, however, Toure suggested that appointment of three assistant deputies representing the main blocs to assist the secretary-general.

This apparently was different from the Khrushchev proposal in that a secretary still would remain. Adoption of such a proposal could mean that the secretary-general himself would become mostly a figurehead.

The delegates waited expectantly for a new statement by Khrushchev, probably in the evening, on disarmament, in the light of his statement Sunday night on a television and radio interview in New York that "We shall never start a war."

Nixon Speaks to Crowd in Montana

By ARTHUR EDSON

BILLINGS, Mont. (AP) — Vice President Richard M. Nixon today told a shivering but enthusiastic Western audience — whom he described as a "go-ahead people" — that his program will provide more progress for America than anything the Democrats offer.

Nixon chose the incredible hour of 7:40 a. m., to begin the four weeks in which he thinks this election will be won or lost.

And Police Chief L. L. Wilson estimated that 5,000 were standing in 38-degree weather in the street to hear Nixon.

Nixon pointed out that he's a Westerner, too, from California. "We're a go-ahead people," Nixon said. "We never want to stand still."

And he sized up the Republican program this way: "I'm proud to stand for a program that will move America far faster than anything the Democrats offer."

Nixon is expected to step up his attacks on Sen. John F. Kennedy in the last month of this campaign.

He got in a few practice jabs on this chilly morn.—it felt more like attending a football game than a political rally.

He said Kennedy's program supports the idea that "the federal bureaucracy solves all our problems."

And Nixon used a line that always gets a laugh from his Republican audiences: "Remember it's not Jack's money he's going to spend, but yours."

"The crowd was surprisingly enthusiastic considering the hour. Maybe they were clapping in an effort to keep warm."

Judge to Trial at Ft. Smith

HOPE, Ark. (AP) — Chancellor Franklin Wilder and three other men went on trial in Sebastian Circuit Court today on charges of conspiring to induce a minor female to make statements degrading to her name and character.

Other defendants in the case, which grew out of the campaign for the Democratic nomination for chancellor, are Edgar Rainey, publisher of a Fort Smith weekly newspaper, J.O. Sellars, a super market operator, and J. M. Pratt, an employee of Sellars.

The jury also indicted Fort Smith Municipal Judge James Langston, who lost to Wilder in the primary, but a jury last week found him innocent of a charge of contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Langston's acquittal followed a week-long trial.

Truman Raps GOPs in Talk at Texarkana

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP) — Harry S. Truman landed here today declaring the Democratic presidential ticket will carry the four states which virtually touch here — Texas, Arkansas, Oklahoma and Louisiana.

He was met by a small but enthusiastic crowd including two congressmen when his borrowed plane, the Lucy B., piloted by Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, landed.

At a luncheon at Texarkana Junior College, Truman said the Republicans are using "an Alice in Wonderland approach to government in these perilous times," seeing no reason "to do anything to make the free world safe and the country's finances sound."

Meeting him were Rep. Wright Harris of Arkansas, Rep. Homer Thornberry of Texas accompanied Truman on the plane as did two Truman administration assistants, Dave Slowe and William Gray.

Palman said voters look on Truman as a great fighter. "He gives them an enthusiastic feeling," he said. Thornberry said "He will help the Democrats a great deal."

Groups of spectators were on Texarkana streets as the ex-president's caravan drove through the business district to his hotel. There Truman greeted a half-dozen teen-aged girls who had decorated his suite.

As he came down the plane's ramp, a group of Texarkana College students cried in unison, "Hello, Harry." The former president appeared a little startled but pleased at the greeting.

The Texarkana, Ark., high school band met him at the airport and the Texarkana, Tex., high school band played for the luncheon at which he spoke.

The former president scored the Republican administration on national defense and fiscal policy in a speech prepared for a Democratic rally.

It was Truman's second stop on a speaking tour for the Democrats which will take him from coast to coast.

He said no one expected the Republicans to do anything for the farmers and the working men and women or about developing public power resources.

He said the "record will show that in the two fields the Republicans were supposed to be especially competent — national defense and fiscal policy — they have been a flop as they have in everything else."

He said when he left the White House the national debt was $250 billion, but under the Eisenhower administration it has been increased to $280 billion.

"So you see," he added, "if I were a Republican, I would never bring up the subject of deficit spending."

Republicans, he said, will never be able to develop fully the strength of America and balance the budget at the same time because "they do not understand the forces that make America strong. They don't know how to put America to work. They don't know how to call forth the best efforts of all our people."

Now is the time for soil-cement...

Attractive, smooth-riding, durable, it's modern soil-cement

Money savings and long life for Arkansas roads!

Low-cost soil-cement pavement grows stronger year by year!

Maintenance crews can all but forget about the roads paved with soil-cement. It holds up like no other low-cost pavement ever laid. You can expect soil-cement roads to give you more than 20 years of driving pleasure.

Soil-cement pavement is strong right from the start, ready for traffic fast. And it keeps getting stronger! Tests on roads everywhere show it often doubles in strength after years of use.

Soil-cement is a precision-built road — stronger inch for inch than any other pavement short of concrete. No softening, no break-up after a hard winter.

That's why maintenance costs stay low. It's the 20-year-plus pavement.

Initial cost? That's low, too, because road builders work with native soils. Paving is quick and easy. Soil, cement and water are mixed on the roadway and rolled solid. A thin bituminous topping is added. Contractors can build as much as two miles a day. That saves money.

Developed in 1935, soil-cement is now in service on more than 12,000 miles of roads. Street and highway officials are converting more mileage to soil-cement every year. It's the best low-cost answer for problem roads.

MODERN soil-cement

Gets stronger with age
Core cut from soil-cement highway showed strength had actually doubled in 14 years.

DOROTHY DIX

Headstrong Daughter Breaks Parents' Heart

By HELEN WORDEN ERSKINE

Having brought our girls up with loving care and sent them to a wonderful private school, this is a heartache that we are not prepared for. Our second daughter, just 18, has told us bluntly that she intends to be married this month.

We are not against her being married but only want her to wait until spring. They have known each other only three months. The young man is 24, has been in the Air Force three years and seems very nice. Other than that we know nothing. My husband and I pleaded with them to become engaged, prepare correctly, then be married; but they are making the plans themselves.

From little girls up, we've always planned what we'd do for our daughters when this time comes. Now my husband is so hurt he steadfastly refuses to have anything to do with it, and vows that he'll not attend the wedding. Is it too much to ask them to wait a few months?

She cannot understand why she should wait. Her father and I are suffering just as much, yet no one will budge. We are told, "It's my life let me live it."

Her dad is well respected and loved, in fine circumstances and has been a most kind and generous father, but he has definitely refused to go along with this, saying there has been no consideration for her parents; and that they are not well enough acquainted for so serious a step.

What should we do? I am inclined to go along with her. They'll marry anyhow, but her father will never give in. —N. P.

Dear N. P.: I sympathize with you and your husband and your daughter. Your love may have been overprotective. As a result, she takes too much for granted. Admitted this be true, what can you do?

Tell her, "Marry when you wish. Go ahead, lead your own life—but don't expect further help from us."

This could be what she needs to awaken that latent love and responsibility you and your husband miss in her.

Dear Helen:

I am 12-and-a-half-years old. My trouble is my eight-year-old sister. She gets spunks on if she doesn't have her way. She goes in her room and cries, or laments it out on me. I try to play the games she likes. My mom is having a baby pretty soon. My sister acts like a baby. What can I do? Worried Sister.

Dear Worried Sister: Help Mother out by playing little mother to your sister. Her nose is probably out of joint, poor thing, because she fears the baby will take first place in your hearts. Try to make her understand that love is limitless—there is always enough to go around. In fact, love begets love; so the coming of the baby means there will be just another one to love and to be loved by.

Dear Helen:

What can I do with a wife who owe so much that it takes every thing I make to live. This she knows, but every time I say something, she gets mad, then starts to cry, and it hurts me.

I like to fish but I have to fight with her before I can go, so I just don't go. I don't drink, work every day and never go any place without her. When I want to see my mother, she wants to go some place else. If I don't go she gets mad and here come the tears. I love her, but this is driving me nuts. Sometimes I think the best thing to do is leave. Please help.

—Fed Up.

Dear Fed Up: There are two sides to every question. If your wife is as unreasonable and emotional as you say, then you've married a child. Being the mother of the two, it's your duty to make a success of your marriage. Help your wife to grow up, to realize that she must meet you halfway in this partnership and work as do you, for its success.

You have no more right to walk out than she, even though what you believed would be a bed of roses turns out to be a bed of cactus.

Send your problem to Helen Worden Erskine. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope and address your care of this newspaper. Helpful letters available. Write for "The Ideal Husband."

Won't Seize Firms

The nationalization scare broke last Friday with a London newspaper report that Nkrumah's government was about to approve plans to take over some 200 foreign firms.

Plane Crash Kills Four in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An airplane crash, which snuffed out the lives of four persons bound for a football game, was the worst single accident in the week ended at midnight Sunday during which 14 persons died violently in Arkansas.

Killed in the plane mishap near Hot Springs Saturday were: Charles Freeman, 44, of Hot Springs, the pilot; L. L. Marshall, 40, of Malvern; and James Stonecipher, 51, and John G. Holder, 65, both of Hot Springs.

Seven persons died in traffic accidents and three in stollings. Sherman Zachary, 25, of Springdale, was fatally injured Sunday in an accident involving a car driven by Margery Zachary, 26, also of Springdale, near the Springdale city limits.

Houston Yates, 24, of Marmaduke, died Saturday when the car in which he was riding, driven by A. M. Ballentine of Marmaduke, was struck by a truck which sped away from the accident, officers said.

Clarence Strickland, 21, burned to death Saturday when his palm truck plunged into a ditch and burst into flames on a suburban Little Rock street.

Queen Appears To Have Bruises

PERTH, Scotland (AP). — Queen Elizabeth II appeared at a public function today with two large bruises and an angry-looking eye on her right leg.

Buckingham Palace could give no information on the injuries.

"We have absolutely no idea of the cause nor can we check. The only medical bulletins ever issued are on advice of her doctors. The chances of finding out anything officially are absolutely negligible," a palace spokesman said.

There was speculation the queen might have been bitten by one of her pet dogs, notable for their truculence, even toward royalty. Or perhaps, others said, the queen might have been bitten by one of her horses.

The queen is a great horse lover and while on vacation at Balmoral Castle often goes riding.

The queen was here to open a new bridge over the River Tay. Prince Philip, her husband, was with her.

THE EASTER DINNER

BY DONALD DOWNES

Chapter XIX

Shaking and sick Ciclio reached inside the bedroom door for his clothes. He dressed slowly and methodically, like an undertaker shrouding a corpse; the shoe strings were too far away; he left them unclipped and silently opening the front door and closing it behind him, let himself down the stairs, leaning against the wall for support.

Headless of the hour (it was not yet seven) he set his unsteady course for the Largo Argentina—the Contes house, and confession: Only halfway across the Ponte Sisto did he remember his encounter with Partenopina in the Vicolo del Piede; the Conte and Conte Rossini were at Principe di Mont'Alto's farm—precisely in the other direction and a good five miles away. Ciclio knew he was too weak and too sick to walk that far; the pasta at yesterday's dinner was all he had eaten for five or six days—except for a few spoons of carrots or turnips now and then. Besides, he needed more than strength to walk so far; he needed courage to confess, and that would never last the hour and a half it would take to reach the Via Ardeatina, not beyond the caves.

It might be better to die. Kill a German! That would be the surest way to die. There, left by fate for his use, was a piece of old metal pipe, as long as his forearm, wedged in the lacy fretwork of the iron balustrade. He had often seen fishermen use one to hold their poles while they ate or slept. Ciclio wrenched it free, and the effort made his head thump.

Sooner or later a German—or two—would cross the bridge. He would stand, casually, with the pipe under his coat. As the German passed, he would hit him with all his force from behind. When he fell, he would hit him again and again. The scene enacted itself with gory and horrible detail—blood, teeth lying on the pavement, the German's screams, and his jerky death agony, with wide eyes full of fear.

A wave of nausea and revulsion passed over Ciclio, and he realized that he could not beat any man to death—not even a German. Ashamed, disgusted, he shakily lifted the pipe above his head and hurled it into the river.

I was disloyal and dishonest. Now I have added to it weakness, cowardice. I cannot face the Conte. I cannot even kill a German. Renzo must have guessed that—he said I was afraid to kill a German—I am.

"Tell me I am right," He addressed the river, his eyes brimming with tears.

"Just for 23 pigeons?" The reply was so clear and so close that it sounded like his own voice. "Don't you remember the pigeons that looked so much like these—in Partoli—in the big cage on the balcony of that villa the Conte had you watch every day and copy down the numbers of the Italian automobiles parked outside?" It was his own voice, but certainly the Tiber furnished him the words.

Ciclio wiped his eyes and smiled. The drumming in his head stopped. He—he and Livio—would go this very night and steal 23 of those pigeons to replace the ones they had eaten. Yes, he remembered vividly, he had passed the villa twice a day for several days. There was a wall higher than his head, higher than he could reach, and just beyond it a big Cedar of Lebanon; its branches reached from the wall on one side to the balcony on the other, the balcony which had been rebuilt into a sort of cage and pigeon cot. He counted off on his fingers: "First, two burial bags; second, my mason's son.

"Checking up on our H. D. program," was discussed and demonstrated by Mrs. Margerite P. Williams, State HD Agent. "The Outlook" for 1961, was given by Mrs. Scott.

"Committee Work in Strengthening HD Club Programs," was brought by Miss Dorothy Price, District HD Agent. "Relations in HD Work" was discussed by Mrs. Williams. The officers were in charge of Group Huddles.

After lunch was served, Mrs. Jennie B. Bates, Negro Home Development Agent was in charge of "Role Playing," which was demonstrated by Union, Columbia, and Clark counties. T. R. Belton, Negro Agricultural Agent explained "How to Involve People to have an Effective County Program." Larry White, Farm Development Agent gave an evaluation of the meeting. Mrs. Alcota Wade, Reporter.

At seven o'clock, in the last warm sunlight, Ciclio and Livio set out carrying mason's tools: the half-ladder, the rolled-up bags, the wire cutters, and each with a thick, oily sandwich of mashed artichoke hearts in his pocket.

"Where are we really going, Papa? I don't believe all that stuff you told Mama. Should I have?" "No," Do you remember those days a couple of weeks ago when I took you along and we passed, twice each day, those villas in Partoli and you memorized the license numbers on all those automobiles?"

"Yes."

"Remember the balcony all covered in chicken wire?"

"Full of pigeons—yes."

"Well, we are going to get those pigeons—late—after midnight!"

"But you told Mama we'd be home before curfew!"

"Figlio mio, I've told you before; I'll tell you again: women have to be lied to sometimes—certain times—when they have their claws out like a cat and heat you around the head with their tongue..."

"Nothing clams a woman like a good lie well placed. But don't do it too often; it wears out like cheap shoes."

"Papa, will we eat these pigeons, too?"

"No. I told my friend—My important friend from whom we fetched the birds—that I'd replace those we ate yesterday. Sometimes he even has Englishmen and Americans—generals, I guess, secretly in Rome. He said, 'Go ahead, eat them. Rome, old; you and your boy Livio can get more.'"

"When can I meet him?"

"As soon as the Americans come."

Porkers Face Tough Work for Texas Game

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — The Arkansas Razorbacks face a week of tough practice to get ready for Saturday's game with Texas and they'll do it with the bitter taste of last week's 28-14 loss to Baylor still fresh on their tongues.

Jacking matters worse is an injury that may keep star halfback Lance Alworth out of the Texas bout. Alworth who hurt his leg in the Texas Christian game, re-injured it in the Baylor tilt Saturday and didn't see action in the second half.

Coach Frank Broyles said he would have to wait and see how the leg responds to treatment this week before he knows if Alworth can play.

Syracuse and Old Miss Post Victories

By ED CORRIGAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
SYRACUSE, N.Y. (AP) — It is hard to believe that the Bouncing Bucs, so thoroughly humiliated by two successive one-sided defeats, were all even today with New York Yankees at two victories apiece in the best-of-seven series for the world championship.

It is even harder to believe that the same pitiful Pirates of two days ago, who apparently were on the way to four straight licksings, actually are in better shape than their Yankee tormentors.

True, the odds-makers continue to make the Yankees a strong 9-5 favorite to capture the Series despite the Pirates' comeback 3-2 victory before 67,812 Yankee Stadium fans. New York is an 8 to 5 choice to win today's fifth game.

But the odds-makers are not reckoning with these hard, cold facts:

1. The Pirates must be conceded an edge on the mound today with their veteran southpaw Harvey Haddix, an 11-game winner during the regular season, opposed by rookie righthander Bill

Tigers Lose to Langston Friday Night

The Langston Bulldogs from Hot Springs made the first loud down and went on to defeat the Verger Tigers 14-5 Friday night at Hiramons Stadium.

The first score of the game came when Verger fumbled the ball on its own 25 and Love recovered for the Bulldogs. Love hit Britton at the 9. Bryant then received the loss from Love for the Touchdown. The Pat was good.

The Tigers made their only score of the game early in the second quarter when center and punter Everett Edwards received a bad snap from center. He picked the ball up on his 6 yard line and raced up the side line 94 yards for the Tigers T.D. The point after failed. The half ended with Hot Springs leading 7-6.

The last Bulldogs touchdown came when Britton intercepted an Edwards' pass at the 26 and raced the needed yardage untouched. Love converted to give the visitors a 14-6 victory.

Houston Licks Titans to Gain Lead

By CHARLES H. GREEN
HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — The Houston Oilers are in first place in the Eastern Division of the American Football League after a deathmarred 27-21 victory over the New York Titans Sunday.

Titan guard Howard Glenn, 26, died of unknown causes shortly after the game. An autopsy was ordered.

The Oilers scored twice on runs by Billy Cannon and Charley Tolar and again on a six-yard pass from George Blanda to Jack Alchason.

The busy Blanda, the AFL's leading scorer, also kicked field goals of 22 and 36 yards.

New York threw 51 passes — probably enough to satisfy even Sammy Baugh, the aerial-minded Titan coach.

Dick Jameson and Al Dorow completed 25, three of them for touchdowns.

Jamieson threw to Art Powell for touchdowns of 3 and 33 yards. Don Maynard caught an eight yard Dorow pass for a score.

In the only other Sunday game, the Oakland Raiders beat the Dallas Texans, 20-19, in Dallas by scoring 20 points in 10 minutes of the third quarter. Jim (Jetstream) Smith ran a kickoff back 98 yards for one of the touchdowns.

Dallas could have won the game in the final two minutes after Cotton Davidson passed to Max Boydsian for a touchdown and the Texans trailed by one point.

The Texans tried for the two point conversion allowed under AFL rules but Bo Dickinson was stopped two feet from the goal.

Oakland scored on Smith's run, a nine-yard pass from Tony Teresa to Alan Goldstein and a 16-yard run by Goldstein.

Saturday night Boston beat Los Angeles, 18-0.

Denver continues to lead the Western Division, in which Dallas, Los Angeles and Oakland are tied for second place.

Both Illinois and Purdue, rated Nos. 4 and 7, respectively in the AP poll, were humiliated. Ohio State, No. 5, humiliated Illinois, 34-7, and Wisconsin clobbered Purdue, 24-13.

That makes Iowa, No. 3 and a 27-15 victor over Michigan State, and Ohio State the favorites for the Big Ten title. They meet on Nov. 12. Iowa takes on Wisconsin this week and Ohio State is at Purdue.

Arkansas, which had been rolling along as the strong favorite to win the Southwest Conference title, fell before Baylor, 28-14.

Arkansas faces another roughie in Texas this time around, while Baylor plays Texas Tech. The following week Texas gets its shot at Baylor.

Navy, No. 6 in the poll, stopped Southern Methodist, 26-7, and has a date with the Air Force Academy this week. The Fly Boys lost to Missouri, 34-8, Saturday. Clemson, No. 8 and the top candidate for the Atlantic Coast Conference title, coasted to a 21-7 triumph over Virginia, while Kansas No. 10, trounced Iowa State, 28-14.

Murphy said Pittsburgh's heart-in-the-mouth victory Sunday was "typical" of his team. The Pirates got good pitching, good defense and earned their runs the hard way — by scratching and clawing and causing the opposition to make mistakes.

"The game we play the day before doesn't mean a thing to us," he said, referring to Saturday's 10-0 shellacking (there was also that 16-3 defeat in the second game). "We've been counted out a half dozen times but we've always come back."

The pirates got the good pitching from starter Law and from reliever Elroy Face. They got brilliant defensive play from center fielder Bill Virdon and third baseman Don Hoak. They got timely hitting from Law and Virdon. But the biggest help to them were a couple of Yankees — Bill Skowron and Bobby Richardson. The pair was responsible for half the Yankees' eight hits and both their runs but their mistakes in the field paved the way for the Pirates' runs.
